HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF JANUARY 1925

 （）II whirled down through the trees to drift into the various hol－ fows and crevices while the wind whistled between the branches of the pines which were to be seen everwhere．＇There came the sound of murmuring voices which at times coukl be heard distinctlly and again were ohscured by the many sounds of the for－ est．Lpon tracing the voices to their source one would find that they issued from the mouth of a large cave which was set far back in the side of a hill that was covered with rocks and unckerborsh． Just within the cave a small group of In－ dians could be seen squatting around a fire．＇l＇all and erect in their midst stood one who appeared to be the chieftain of his 1 ribe．Crouped about him were a few old warriors，but for the most part they were young brates who had not yet been tried in battle．All were apparently inter－ csted in the story that he was unfolding the legend of the January 1925 tribe of lorth Central Indians．If one could have but understood the language of the Chief－ tain he would have heard a narrative some－ thing like this．

Fonr short years ago two hundred and sisty papooses began the initiatory step in preparing themselves for the great battles that they must fight in the future．＇That the might become an honor and a credit to their race the poor little freshmen，for that is what they were called，faced ob－ stacles which seemed almost impossible to owerome．It first they were greath be－ wiklered and could not remember＂where to go when＂nor were the older members of the tribe of much assistance for the often preferred to send the young redskins on fruitless hunting expeditions．F＂inally the papooses arrived at their destination only to live in fear and trembling lest the all knowing ones who were called teachers should scalp them．After the dread of the ieachers had been overcome，such evils as algebra and English haunted the poor little Indians．Nothing daunted them，ther armed themselves with study，persever－ ance，and will and sallied forth to meet the hard ftint axes of L atin and Science．

Time passed．When the bright warm dety of summer came the chiefs deemed it necessary to grant the young Indians a respite after having fought so bravely with their enemies for six long monns．
＇l＇wo more moons waxed and waned and again the tribe of 1925 came together to continue their fight．With experience as their guiding hand they fared forth to complete their first great step in the Land of Knowtedge．Some of the band were not strong enough，and were left behime to increase the numbers of the June＇ 25 tribe．

At the begiming of the next year the Indians were christened the Sophomores． lroud and haughty they were，for now their time had come to torture the freshie． However，they were still pursued by enemies larger，stronger，and mightier than before．Newer and stronger evils confronted them in the form of Creometry， Botany，\％oology．In spite of the many obstacles which beset the way a few of the land managed to enter the various activi－ ties．Some of those who entered into foot－ batl have since brought great honor to their tribe．Ill went well with the noble young redskins until the summer moons again made their appearance．＇Then great terror seized the hand for they had to again pass through the torture of a series of tests before they might join the coveted ranks of upper classmen．

As Juniors they entered the activities with even greater zeal than before．Some of the members journeved with the bas－ ketball team to Chicago．When they re－ turned they brought many trophies to pre－ sent to the tribe．Realizing that concen－ tration of efforts would be necessary if they wished to attain the goal of gradua－

THE CLASS WILL

yE, 'IHE class of January 1925 , leave our arguments in class meetings, our peculiar ways and our virtues, to the members of North Central, with the hope that they will accept our gifts graciously and benefit by them.

Harold Whall leaves his "girl," Avon Coutts, to the junior set with the injunction to care for her during school hours.

Joe Creenough leaves his executive ability to I on Axtell in order that he may sceure any position in school that he desires.
Tessie Burke leaves her temper to "sheik" lack (iraham for fear his may give out from over use.

Mary Allison leaves her freckles to Kelly IVard.

Ted Rohwer leaves his red hair and his partnership in the Haynes-Rohwer Correspondence Schoo! to Everett Henning.
(ienevieve Green leaves her superfluous dates and phone calls to Jerric Bernard.

Lillian Epley leaves her "Bobs" to his femmine admisers. but if you value your life-hands off!

Bob Iritchard leaves his success in school and his large wardrobe to his frother.
leila Landy leaves her clever public speaking specches as pleasant memories to IIiss Flliott.

Cymhia Cadwell leaves her naturally curly hair to Melba Welton-We've heard Mell likes it better that way.

Charles Kronemberg leaves his Reo serdan to Norval Rader so that he won't have to walk home from Summit Boulevard when he misses the owl car.

Helen Fowler leaves her place on the scholastic honor roll to Madelyn Deveraus.
. Marjoric Petersen would leave her lovely voice, but she wants to use it to help make her career successful.

Hawley Cole leaves the kiss that he gave Alidred lounselle when he crowned her queen of the Pep Carnival, to her admirers: Please don't fight over it.

Babe Bush leaves her height to Fidgie Hogle.

Hugh Cheesman leaves his ability to handle the football money to Francis Blod.

Don Wisotell leaves his good looks and keen appearance to Manley Douglas. (IVe really (lon't think that he needs them.) (liaire Donovan leaves her fantastic toes and rope spiming ability to Lola Standard.

Fisie Fletcher and Henrietta Flynn leave their artistic talents to Myrtle Richardson.
Matthew Stevens leaves his successful career as quarterback on the football team to Koy Fait with the hopes that he will make the first lineup next fall.

Elinor Jackson leaves her C . of W . Kappa Sig' to Una Mae Decker.

Frenchic Hughes leaves her sweet mannerisms and lovely voice to Doris Daniels.

II ayne Fitzgerald leaves his extra averdupois to Ceorge $A$ Anderson.

THE CLASS PROPHECY

$\theta$I' 'Illl: time our committee was selected
It all came rather unexpected But just as far as we can see The members of our class will le:
Io 'l'essie Burke we point with pride The ['rince of Wales will make her his bride.
I eila I undy will win success
For she will run the Spokane Press. liill leeker's life will be quite sunny Il is wives will die and leave him mones. Matthew Stevens of football fame, Will be the eoach at Notre Dame.
Willard Macbonald, a loving swain
In a despondent mood will shoot out his brains.
"Iove in a Bungalow, Built for lou" I famous song, by the famous twoIritchard and Petersen.
Hugh Cheesman will be the chief gazink Of a high class club called "Rinky-clinks." As an artist, Babe Bush will neet with illusions, Nll she can draw will he poor conclusions.
Four times wed, and four times parted Poor Patul Kitto will be broken hearted. loe Creenough will lead a terrible life He will marry a domineering wife. As for the future of Cenevieve Green It's far too uncertain to be forseen. Margy Elliot is now sweet and shy But in her old age she'll be terribly spry. In regard to our humorous Harold Wall Why; he just ain't got no future at all. You woukdn't think it but do you know: Eid Lowery will tell stories hy radio.

Bill lilmsie will keep his art for acting lioth good and bad, to be exacting. It's all settlerl, cause we can see Filla Nae married to her S. A . E. IVe sumpathize with Alarjorie Ploom For a bairdressers life will be her doom. Of course Helen Fowler will be a teacher And Jimmy Martz is Methodist preacher. An opera career for Beulah Blair
She'll make her debut with "A Maiden's Prayer."
Ind Charles Kromenberg can be nothing more Than a floor walker in a department store. And did you know that Margaret Ennis Will only prove a public menace.
The stars predict for our president, Rolrwer
He'll have food and shelter but nothing more.
We sure feel sorry for Hawley Cole He won't find worle to save his soul. If Wayne Fitzgerald gets bigger daily He'll soon be signed with Parnum and Bailey.
For those matrimonially inclined We have great faith in the undersigned. Allison-Graham happily mated Disotel-1)ewey-separated. Milly and Tom-happy of course But Cadwell and Irwin-diworce. As for the rest of our dear classmates Tuclging from the past, if one related What each will be in his future life
One might as well start a civil strife.

JNNUARY, 1925

HAPPINESS

Robert Iouis Stevenson once said "Io be truly happy is a question of how to begin and not how to end; of what we want and not what we have." It has also been said that happiness lies not in doing what one likes but liking what one cloes.
boubtless everyone, on leaving high school is filled with mumerous ideals and plans. for the future ; of great accomplishments and success. In the mad rush for wealth and fame all too many miss the fundamental element in life; happiness. 'loo often our eves are kept glued on our goal "Jusiness Success" and then when we have finally achieved that which we set out to achicve we find, much to our distress, that we are not a success after all. but a failure because we have not found happiness.

Students leaving high school: dom't be so lousy sceking success that you miss it. like Stevenson says, let us learn how to begin things and not how to end them. I et us enter into everything with a willing spirit and not be afratd to work. Wie must do our best always because if a thing is worth doing at all it is worth doing well. Wie must remember that we will get out of this old world just what we put in it. 'The real secret of success lies in making others happy. Aim to be a friend and you will always have friends.
'lhose who sit and wait for happiness never get it. '1'hose who are ahways looking for happiness never find it. Those who give it, receive it. Those who deserve it, get it.

Mappiness must go hand in hand with success or there is no success at all. So when you are striving toward success give a litule thought to your happiness and remember the secret. And let us always remember those words of Pope:

Fixed to no spot is happiness, sincere :
"I"is nowhere to be found, on every"where;
"l'is never to be bought, but always free.

THE CIASS OF JANUARY' 25

Four years ago the class of Jamary 25 entered North Central as freshman. buring this time they have worked to attain standings and distinction for themselves that they may have something by which to be remenubered.

Athough regarded by many as more or less a matter of course that another class should be graduating from North Central it is not with this feeling that those of the senior class are leaving this institution which they have regarded as more or less a home during the tine spent here. Though they be scattered to the far ends of the earth there will always be that feeling in the hearts of each and every one of the members of the graduating class of danuary 25 of utmost respect for that school from which they received their diplomas. 'There will be that longing to be back in the halls of old North Central, to mingle with the crowd and to take part in the many activities for which the institution is famous.

Wie are living in a great period of adsancement and we expect that those who follow in our footsteps will attain far greater marks than those which we have attempted to gain. W'ith this in mind we wish those who follow the very best of success and opportmities and only hope that our records may be worthy of association with them.

DO YOUR I'AK'1

One in looking back on past experiences can see many things which might have been done differently. He can see where he might have helped someone else out of a hole or how he might have taken part in many things which would have benefited him. This is the position of many students on reaching the senior class. 'They find that they have accomplished nothing outside of their regular routine school work: that they have nothing creditable by which to remember their high school years.

In North Central there are so many activities that there is a place for everyone of the stuclents to take part. The school is controlled so langely boy sturlents that it is the duty of and to the best interest of each pupii to take part in its control. Beside the actual benefit derived while in school there is the result of this training in after life. It fits one better to take up the duties of citivenship and to take part in the political and social activities of everyday life.

But perhaps more closely related is the benefit derived by the school as a whole from such cooperation. In the first place this works for a much more efficient system in which everyone takes his fair share of responsibility: In the second place it brings about a better relationship between the students and the teachers and last but not least it does away with a great deal of the jealousy among the sturlents.

Some of the upperclassmen may think this is meant for the lowerclassmen only that it is too late for them to do anything along these lines but as the old saying goes it is never too late to change. Of course they may not be able to accomplish as much as some others but they can do a great deal toward helping the rest. 'Therefore let's get together and have each and every student in North Central taking part in some activity

WHAT LARAMIE LEARNED

$\triangle R A \backslash I E$ Ficleling after accepting the position as a sulstitute teac!er at Cnalaslia, didn't dream oi staying any longer than three weeks. Lnalaska-of all places! One of Maska's loneliest and most unbearable towns, so Iarame thought
'The district's one school was establisherd, taught and operated by a Miss Myra Sawer. When Miss Sawer fell ill, the white residents of the town sent to a Seattle teacher's agency for a willing. capable, teacher. As the willing capable teacher Miss Laramie Fielding was sent

The trip from Seattle hatd been hard. The hoat-and oh! Such a boat wats slow, uncomfortable, and incomsenient Then there had been no one to meet Laramie, as had been planned; no one to direct her to her new home.
"I can't stay here all night," she saiul as she stood on the dock waiting for Mr Macbonald, her new landlord. "I'll stay at the lintel.'
Lnalaska's one hotel was not unlike other small town affairs, woorlen, rickets and small. 'This Laramie went through in mone too good a mood. It was very much bencath her dignity to be forced is pass a night in a fishing cove's hotel.

The clerk was a half-breed Indian girl whose name, Laramie learned, was Nituna. The Indian girl was fat and greasy and wore a perpetual smile. If there was anything Miss Fielding detested it was a perpetual smile.

Ansious to please, the girl offered I atamic the best room the house afforded.
"Eet small," she explained in her broken mixture of French and Indian. "Tut eet clean--veery," she added.
"Yes, yes, of course," answered the other impatiently. "Cleanliness is to be expected when one pays two clollars for such a room as this." Her critical eye surveyed her surroundings. The room contained only a bed, a washstand and at smatl chair.
"It will do," she said as she dismissed Nituna. But the girl was loathe to go. Instead she came bashfully up to I aramie and gazed at the other's personal effects.
"I'reety beads- vecry," she remarked wist fully: "Mc-I have no beads."
"I'm very sorry," I aramie satol haugheilv. "Terlatis you could carn some if vou did not stand around, but go to work."

No dismissal could be any plainer, so Nituna left the room. Needless to say, Iaramie was glad to le alone, for she was tired of the sort of people one found in an Alaskan town. She went to the window and peered out. First her unaccustomed eves saw a soft grey darkness, then she was able to distinguish buildings and ohserve that it wats snowing. Laramie dimly wondered how she was to wall: the two aniles to MacDonald's through this snow. 'Tomorrow-perhaps tomorrow Mr . Naclonald would come for her. What had delayed him, she wondered Oh, well - she began to prepare for bed and was jutst hrushing her long, black hair, when she horad a kinack on the doner.
"Oh, fiddlesticlis. I suppose it is that Indian." She opened the door and faced Nitpma bearing a pitcher of water on one hand and a bowl of steaming broth in the other.
"Fet for vou. Jrink somp. Here water for Wash." Nituma seemed amxious to please.
"Thank you. I didn't need the soup," I aramie said curtly as she took the proffered articles and shut the door. As little as Laramie liked Nituma, she had to appreciate the broth.

The next morning, laramie donned some more substantial clothing and proceceded to a eroorl hot breakfast. Again she was greeted by the Indian girl's winning and cheerful smile.
"Have you seen Mr. MacDonald?" she asked the girl.
"lle send message you come. Hees wife seeck. I show way:"
"I'll have some brealifast first," Miss Fievliner s?id. "I'll let pou know when I'm ready, girl."
"Vec,: Nituma did mot like the way this white girl treated her. The Indian girl wanted and needed a good, kind friend. In I.aramie, the girl sall dim possibilities of one. But she was merely called "girl" 1,y the other, and it hurt poor Nituna.

Half an hour later, I aramie announced her readiness to start. Her baggage wals to be left at the hotel for Mr. Macloomald to call for the following day: Nituna said she would go half way with Laramie. Thee: hatl gone nearly a mile without speaking when Latamie noticed that snow was begimning to fall again. Bach crystal flake seemed to grow larger and more beatiful. With the adsent of the wind, the danger of becoming lost was evident. The white girl did not know a single inch of the trail which Nituna had traversed hundreds of times. Fiurthermore, that trail was fast losing its resemblance as a path. Each flurry of snow, each gust of wind made the predicament of the girls more precarious. Laramie opened her mouth and was about to speak, but upon a second thought, snapped it shut. The silence was becoming unbearable. Away in the distance was heard the plaintive wail of a coyote. And closer yet was heard the dismal howls and yip yips of wolves.

Nituna was silent also. If the white girl would not - Oh, but she would. She was talking. "Nituna," she said, "I've been a miserable little wretch. I'm just as sorry as I can le. Will you forgive me:"
"I weel, Nituna-she hold no grudge."
"Cood, and now, I have a fawor to ask of you, rather I almost demand it. Won't yon walk the rest of the way with me, Aituna? I'lease. Y'ou see I'm not familiar with this country-and if I should get lost here-why Nituna, please.

Her cagerness, her pleading and utter desolation won the Indian girl.
"Yes, I weel."
And three hours later, after loraving the storm like veterans, the girls reached MacDonald's, it was a different Laramie from the one of the preceeding night.
"Nituna," she said hugging the other, "we're going to be friends. I owe you a Iot for what yon've done. Sce if we aren't good friends, and Mr. Maclonald tells me I'll have to stay two months or more."
"Crood. We be friends-yes," said the happy Nituna.

And she felt as if they would be.

YOUR NAME AND MINE

MOST' people like bout everything they got and think what they got is leetter'n what everybody else's got. But there is one thing what noloody likes his own of - that ain't very good wordin' but it expresses my meaning. Names, given names, did you ever hear of a guy what liked his own mame? They are very scarce (those kind of fellows. I mean, not the given manes) and if you know one hed be too vain and self-concerned for you to be willing to confess you knew him. Anyway the point is that people don't like their names.

I want to le a champeen on the side of us poor creatures who have to go through all of our natural lives hooked up with either at great-great uncle's name or a name "sod distinguished and nice sounding" as the domers sometimes say: In the first place I want to speak about the kids what was donated their, ancestors names. I profoundly (someloody said that meant swearing lut it don't) pity them. Names like Mrchibate, Virgil, Cyrus, Silas, Phoebe, Maggie, Matilda and Agetha are typical examples. People feel that when there is such a beautiful, appealing name in the family tree they have to pass it along (1) all the little saps. I've heard it's awful hard to be modern with a name like one of them followin vou all the time. But seems 10 me it's the kids with the angel-sounding names what's the devilishest. For example take that there Daniel Pry (ain't Danicl a angellyfied name) look how he run away and married a actress and went plumb) to the dogs.
Loots a times parents say that a certain ancestral name is so becoming and so they smother their poor lids with it and all the time the main idea was the gettin' of the nice check they knew the relative with the kidnapped name would send. You got to be good to live up to a fairly grood name but you got to be a durn sight better to outlive one of those kind of hitherto-forementioned relics.

The other kind of given names is those kind what are supposed to sound good, some sort of a creation out of the deepgrooved mind of one of those good-meaning parents what wants their kid to have an "ode" cognomen. I may as well confess that my name, being Bernadine, comes under this here heading. Others like Beverly, Corinne, Eulalic, Laurice, Hubert, Wendell, Rollo, Martin and Clifford are almost as bad. Some of them sound rather romantic, don't you know,-like they just jumped out of a fiction book. It seems to me that there ain't much to be said about sech names. They ain't worth much. 'The only thing,-it must have took a awful lot of courage on the part of the parents to rope a kid with such a name.

In the long run, it's the mothers to who the blame should be given for the suffering of us poor benited generation. Why couldn't they have called us "l'ete" or "Somme" or "Honey" until we were old enough to choose a name for ourselves, one that was worth wearing? Guess they dicln't think of it. Anyway, it wasn't fair cu\% all we coukd do when they hitehed us up to sech a name was to lay and sçual and squal like sixty which dieln't do no good 'cause they only thought we had the stomic ache or wanted to be turned over or something. I bet if we had a chance we coulda seed to it that we got a real short, non-ancestral, non-pretty-sounding, meaningless name like Lea, Jane, Don, Max, Fred, or Glen. 'Bout the only way we can get revenge, since it's too late to help our own case, is to give worse names to the future generation. But then we'd be less considerate than our parents and our children would write and say a whole lot worser things than this here about theil cognomens and us.

Sometimes nicknames are a durn good thing 'cause they hide your real name. For example Jerry is a cute nickname and it keeps everyboly from knowing that your real name is Jeremiah. However, if your name happens to be Lionel and the kids call you Li or Nell, nicknames are forever condemned by Vour Grace.

To make a long story longer, I say: Down with ancestral names! Down with "pretty sounding" names! Pring on the short, easy, meaningless names now and forevermore! May our parents be forgiven for our names and may we treat the coming generation better than our folks treated us!

LETTERS FROM A NEWSHOUND

ERE friend,--This here aren't gone to be a rele letter cause I'm so blasted busy gettin' junk in for this here Tamarack thing. Did I tell yu that I was give the most high and elavatin' position of Literary editor of the annual Well I were and I am constantly in truble with my teachers for not gettin' my lessons but I reckon that I'll have a heap sight moar truble when the durn thing's printed and distributed. Maybe I won't come to school then, I doan no yet.

I keap askin' Harld Wall how to spell some of these long words I'm tryin' to thes but he doan no much more about it than I do so I plum give it up. M! Finglish teachers says as how I was improovin' in spellin' and general grammer so I'm gettin' awful prowd. But someone ask me the other day how I ever got owt a grade school so that took me doun sum.

We'll soon be errarluatin'. I thot I better tell yut that a little in adrance so yu'd have time to think it orer. Somone just swipeel m! pencil. I bet if I had a eversharp thes wouldn't dair to cop it. I kinda wish I did have one, come to thing of it.

I guess I've accomplished my ask so I'll kwit. I feal terrible, have a hed ache and the grip.

Hoping you are the same.
.1 true pal.

JOHN WAKES UP

1(0HIN McMasters was a groof. A grof of the worst sort. Always in the way so the fellows said and never doing much of anything. Why he was a goof was hard to explain some might say that he just hadln't woke up to the fact that he was an actor in this great world not just a spectator.
let there was sort of a heroic stoicism that calls my admiration for he also was aware of the fact that there was something; a something vague and indefinite between the social and mental status of himself and the rest of the chilldren he consorted will.
On the playground Iohn held lack not because he didn't want to play but a sort of Dashfulness kept him from rushing in and playing with the rest of the fellows. And so John held back almust all through his grade school days a fellow that was iust a sort of piece of furniture. Getting his lessons with a boresome regularity that left no reasion for complaint and mediocre standard which removed him from cominendation. One day he changed.
It was in the winter time and the school class- of which he was a member was holding a sleighride party: Jane Greene the leading feminine attraction in the 8B, class took charge of the affair.
lanc aiill to the rest of the congregation that usually swarmed around in the entrance of the school house inst before the fuarter to nine bell rang. "I've gotta big surprisee for you kids. when the sleighride comes."
"Oh, what is it Janic:" asked Marion, her lest pal.
"Well Y'm going to let John take me!" with a air of comedy.
" $\backslash$ 小wwwr," replied her companion in wide-mouth "onder, he ain't nobody."
But the real reason wasn't out of compassion for John. lane had an argument with Harry, who usually took her on parties and picnics and she knew if she went with some "eligille" bor that Harry would desert her forever. Therefore she thought she would use Joln as sort of a mask to win Harry from any girl he took.
When John hecard that Jane was expecting him to ask her to go with him on the sleighride he was dumbfounded. It had never occured to him at all that he could possibly go on the party. He had been planniug on staving home but this changed matters completely: To him in his hazy thoughts about girls in general Jane was an idol to be worshipped from afar. And to think that he was to take her on the sleighride! Well of all things! Finally he stummoned up enough courage to approach the subject.
"Sa!, are you going on the sleighride?"
"Sure I am, John aren't you going to take me ?"
"Er:-"his heart gave a little jump and he stammered, "Sure, what time shall I come after you?
"'hout seven." replied Jane and was off to join her crowd of girls, leaving John in royy ecstasy:
Xews travels fast especially when it concerns you and Harry was duly informed by his best pal and conspirator Pill Kave.
"-and she is going to go with John Mc.1/aster so lially, her little lorother, told me!"
"Well what do I care?" replied Harry as he shrugged his shoulders with a poorly concealed ziir of indifference.
"Well, shucks. I knew you didn't care but-" that last word bu'T held worlds of meaning to him.
Harry hadn't thought that their little quarrec would amount to this but anyhow if she dieln't like him well enough not to let a little quarrel step in between them, why so mucl? for that. He could see himself in hisis imagination turn up his mose at her. Then she would implore him not to treat her so and he would only laugh. Ah, crucl and sweet revenge!
To Iolin the prospect of going with Janc made him look at himself in the mirror several times to atssure himself that he was the same old person. But mirrors do not lie and he was the same fellow with the same freckled face and the same bewildered just-woke-up expression on his face. Whatever could possess her to ask him to the sleighricle with her?
At last the day arrived when the so-called sleighride was to be. The sky was overcast with grey threatening clouds, the snow was nearly a foot and a half deep and the road was perfect for a sleigh. John nervously watched the clock till it read quarter to seven then he braced himself mentally and prepared to go fourth in the concpuest of hearts. Jane lived about three blocks from his residence and it only took a fow minutes to reach there. Johin happil! started down the last block to Jane's. Across the street he heard the merry voices of some girls ringing clear through the soft stillness of the early. darkiness
"(), she is just kidding him along to make Tharry jealous."

That's what I thought. Foor John is too dead for words!'
'lhe woices trailed of f in the distance as they went farther away but John gathered enough of the conversation to realize that he was just a goat. He was half tempted to turis around and go home. But he didn't. Instead he went and got Jane and took her up to school where they were in congregate.
'So they think I'm dead," thought John, "We cll, I'll show them.'

Into the sled piled one hilarious shouting mase of children.
"What are we groing to do after the ride:"" asked John.
"Oh, I dumio-probably go home!'
"Home, garsh, I'll be so hungry that I can't stand mp. Say, let's go out to my grandmaw:s to eat. We can get some chili and erackers and take it out there."

A collection was taken and they bought a dozen cans of chili and a couple of boxes of crackers at the little store across the road. 'fthen the sleigh pulled away from the school with a merry jingle of the leells, snort of the horses and the voices of the happse children faded away into the distance.

On the sleigh the comversation divn't lag at hit as far as John was concerned. In sheer desperation he talled and talked and the rest of the crowd sat back and enjoged such an comaordinary sight as John Mc. Inaster being the shining light of the crowd. Harry, in one corner of the sled, wasn't enjoying himself very much. For he was the school sheik and bitterly he resented the inroads lohn made up on his popularity.
'roon soun the sleigh pulled up in front of Mrs. Andrews, John's grandmother. She a small vilacions white haired woman, welcomed them into her large comfortable living room. I bright fire bumed in the stone fireplace and sent a checry glow over the faces of the children. It was not long until the visitors made themselves at hone and what a time they had! Amid shrieks of joy they played the old time honored games of Spin the Platter, Winkum, Musical Claairs and Post ()ffice.

'This was the turning point in John McMaster's life. ITe now woke up to the fact that all he needed to be poptlar was to become sociable and always have something to do. All through the party John wats the center of attraction and after the affair was over he felt like he had a new leate on life.

And like most women, Jane failed to (l) the expected thing and become Gramored with John she went back to her old flame Tharrs, and left John in the lurch. And like mosit men do, he resolverl never, never to look at another woman. TTe didn't for about one day and then he fell victim to a clever little girl who was all sympathy for his hurt feelings. So his feelings quiclily recovered and he was ageain foremost in the social world of the school.

And they call them the weaker sex!

FORENSICS

'1' 1'HE beginning of this semester when the call was isued for debaters, 60 sturlents turned out. The North Central debate league was organized October IO and it was decided that the state league question: Resolved, that the United States shoukd grant to the I'hillippines immediate independence, should be used by the league teams. lirom the 60 who turned out, 30 stulents were picked and organized into ten teams with the following personell:

Weklon Schimke, captain, Helen I'leiss, 1.ois Beavers; (iilbert Schade, captain, Margaret Kelly, Mirian Johnson; Kenneth I)avis, captain, Margaret Coughlin, Icon Beckett; Orville I Muhan, captain, Kathryn Stedmon, Richard Foth; Katherine Kicesling, captain, Blythe Pike, Martha Schoening; Clinton McCracken, captain, Frank Brown, Harold Smothermon; Ronald Phares, captain, Sterling 'laylor. Willard Bungay; John De Irmand, captain, Richard Campleell. Jack Joankls; Ilartin Burns. captain, Neilda Wilson, Dwyer Hawley; IIargaret Still, captain, Paul Crooks. Arkil TsraeJ.

Fifteen debates were held in three weeks. Fach team debated three times. Fach debater upheld the affirmative side once and the negative side once and then drew straws to determine which side he should take the third time. 'The team composed of Gilbert Schade, Miriam Tohnson and Margaret Kell! went through the season without a defeat.

During the debate series the jurlges kept an individual rating of each participant and at the end of the debates the eight students having the highest ratings were chosen, six to debate for the Kennedy medals and two to act as alternates. Those taking part in the finals were:

Affirmative: Weldon Schimke, captain, Niriam Johnson, John De Armand.

Negative: Katherine Kiesling, captain, Kenneth 1)avis, Martin Burns.

Alternates: Blythe l'ike and Nartin Burns.

This final debate which was on the same league question was most hotly contesterl.

Ull the speakers showed good stage presence and their speeches were clear cut and posisessed an exceptional quality of finish.

The affirmative was given a two to one decision although the judges had a difficult time in deciding. 'Those acting as judges were: John Shaw, L. C. Bradford and the Reverend Thomas Jeffries. Each member was presented with a gold medal by Principal Kenned! and these three were considered the best clebaters in Vorth Central.

A trianglular deloate league has been organized in Spokane consisting of I-ewis and Clark, Hillyard and North Central. It has been plamed that a debate shall be held at each school on the night of February 13. I ewis and Clark will meet North Central in the North Central auditorium. North Central will clash with Hillyard and Lewis and Clark will go up against Hillyard at the Iewis and Clark high school. 'Those of the North Central squad from whom the triangular leagne team will be picked are: Nargaret Coughlin, Weldon Schinke, Niriam Johnson, John De Armand, Clinton McCracken, Kemeth Davis, Katherine Kiesling, Donald l'hares and Nartin Purns.
'lhe regular junior and senior Ahlquist dehates will be held sometime in the early part of nest semester. One hundred dollars in prizes is distributed annong the winners of these debates by the Ahlquist brothers of this city: ill students are urged to turn out for dehate next semester if they are interested in this kind of work

Jee A. Meyer, rebating coach, and his assistant. Miss Nita May: deserve a great deal of credit for their work with the stulents and for developing a keen interest in this activity among all the sturlents at North Contral. All the members of the various teams wish to thank the coaches for titeir instruction and the patient work they have done. A great portion of the success of the semester is due to the coaches and it has indeed heen a successful semester.

 NF: OF the busiest and best semesters that the North Central band has ever had is just being completed, with a membership of 71 and a marching band of 54 pieces. The hand is under the direction of 1 . C. . Sradford, faculty leader, and Everett Nelson, stulent leader; Ronald Rice is student manager.

This semester an addition has been made to the band in the form of a drum major to lead the band in public appearance and parades. Tiwo studemts qualified for the position; I"illiam Langford and I, ewis Bostwick, they will take turns in directing the band. Part of the dram major's equipment was presented to the school ly, Tomlinson's, Inc.
1)uring the semester the band has made 14 appearances, playing for four foothall games including a trip to Walla Walla financed by the land. 'They appeared in the Hallowe'en and Armistice parades and 3 cica ch the Hallowe'en and Armistice parades and the serpentine before the Thanksgiving game, and also at six convocations.

Aclding greatly to the efficiency of the band is the brass quartel organized this scason. 'The members are Harleigh Lines, Edward Haynes, Philip Redford and liverett Nelson.

To finance expense and upkeep of the band uniforms several movies have been presented in the school auditorium, including: "Rupert of Hentzau," "The Cricket on the Hearth," and "Doctor Jack."

1. C. Bradford, faculty director, deserves much praise for his splendid work in bringing the band to its present state of efficiency. The members of the band are as follows:

Comets-Kussel Actan, Prentice Balch, Arthur Becker, Fired Carpenter, John Cox, Ed Curtis, Chester Griffith, Edward Haynes, Melvin Haid, Charles Hulick. John Heineclse, David Kaye, Harleigh Lines, Ioe D'earson, Bill Ross, V'ictor Schatz, Fred Stejer, Lewis Stevens, Lawrence

Vhbert Biggar and Rex Fiarburn. Eillwood le Fievter, Ceorge Ciraham, Jack Nince. Arthur Ross and Robert Sater play the drums.

THE OPERETTA

The operetta, "The Marriage of Nannette," which was presented in the North Central auditorium the cevenings of 1 ecember 12 th and 1.3 th was julgod ats perhaps the best of its kind ever presented by the students of North Central. 'The attendance was especially large as nearly every ticket in the house was sold. 'The cast of characters is as follows:
Heloise, Countess de Martigny ......Doris Daniel Yrome, her sister, also knowi as La Citana...... Frederic, Due d'Antinn ...............William Harris Madelon, his daughter .....................Frances I Iughes Henri, Marquis de Hatteur, his nephew

Bennett, Burton Harvey, Merit Pieterson, Monroe H. Hublell, Warren I. Robertson.

The plot of the plav centers around the village of Champs de Fleurs in France. Nammette, a village maid, finds herself in a very undesirable situation when her mother insists upon her marrage with the Duc d' Intin instead of her true lover, Rence a village youth of her own station.

The real Countess, who is bethrothed to the Duc, is mysteriously kidnapped on her way to the marriage ceremony. The Duc finds himself with many brides, each of whom declares that she is the true Countess Heloise. After many embarmassing predicament the Duc finally finds his real bride and they are married.

The leading role of Nannette was played aclmirably by Narjoric Peterson, who sang with her usual skill and grace. 'The part of the scheming mother was very well portrayed hy Wilhelmina Reaume. Lucile Helen Creighton is descrving of much praise for the wall in which she played the part of Yvome, the Cypsy girl, with all the weird attractiveness known to the European Cippsy maids．William Itarris， in his roll of the Duc，was most satisfac－ tory to the audience．Norval kader，as Kene Nannette＇s lover played well his romantic part as did Paul Kitto and Kich－ ard Flynne who were also lovers．

The crew of highwaymen did much to add flavor to the entertainment．＇1＇he part of Santo，Reporello＇s bear，is particularle deserving of praise and his capers were most bearlike．The part was taken by A 1：dward К゙eats． liach character played or sang his part very well and the ensemble was considered the hest ever produced in North Central． ＇Ioo much credit cannot be given to the directors，C．Olin Rice，Miss Lucile Elliott， and Miss Flsa Pinkham，whose efforts did much to make the operetta a success．．Nlso to Ilr．Kussell for his assistance in makingr sets．The dances which were coached loy Miss linkham were most attractive．

．ILUNINI ORCHESTRA

This semester a most novel organiza－ tion has been formed of North Central graduates；namely，an all－star alumni or－ chestra．The orchestra made its first ap－ pearance at the pep convocation for the Thanksgiving game．And was presented again at a clouble pay convocation Decem－ ber 17.

The program was presented under the auspices of the band in order that some much needed uniforms and instruments might be purchased．The appearance of this orchestra was most welcome to the students and according to I．C．Bradford， director of the school band，＂This is the most brilliant and versatile aggregation on the coast．Their relation to the school as grads and former members of the band is unique．Their high regard for the inter－ ests of the school and their willingness to support band activities is a standard of school spirit to which uncler grads may well aspire．＂

The list of members is as follows：Dr． Kiley Diviney，＇14；I．oring Overman，＇17； John Bulmer and Robert Green，＇18； I，eighton Bailey，＇22；Guy Winship，＇19； and Byron McCoy，＇ 24 ．

SENIOR CLASS PLAY,"TWEEDLES"

The semior Clas: Plas ".pweedte" os Booth 'Tarkington and Harry 1 .eon Wilson was presented the esenings of the lohn and 17th of lanuar! in the North Central anditerium. Fridai eveming the Ieadin: role were plaved his Mar Allison in the character of Winsora and Robert l'ritchard as Iulian. Saturday might Conthia Cadwell and Don Cary Simith were the leading players

The cast for the play is an follow :
Mrs. Rickets, a summer conager ... Mary Burke Mrs. Whergonc, mistress oi the Antiquity Shop.. … ... . ................................ Frances Iemison "insora, waitress ....................... Mary Allison Cymhia Cadwell Inlian Castlehurs: her lover . . Roliert Pritchard Don Cary Smith Mre. Castlelmry, mother of Julian

Elinor lack:on Mr. Castlchury. iather of Julian

Mathew Stevens Adam, Tweedle, father of II insora

Harold Wall Imbrosa Twedle, lirother of IVinsora

William Elmstey and Ted Rohwer Philemon. town constalle ....... William Becker

The play takes place in and around the Antiquity Shop and the "Tea Terrace" at the old 'Tweedle mansion. The village in which they live is a fashomable summer reont. The Castleburss, people of wealth and pesition, are spending the summer in one of the cottage- with their son, Julian. who is a dreamy rather unpractical appearing sort of person.

The Tweedles are aristocrats of the villase and do not think much of the summeer cottagers. Their tamily has heen well knewn for hundrect oi years and it is ahmost heyond beliet that one of their iamme would associate with one of those nobodies of the summer colome, much less to) marrs.

Winsora Tlweedle, a comely village maid with an appearance of imtelligence, is the waitres at the "plerrace" and also takes cate of the trade in the Intiquity Shop which belongs to her aunt. It is in the Thep that somy Iulian make the acquaintance of Winwra and hating fallen in hove does not realize what ails him, he believes the main attraction is the splendid -et of Bristol glas: which he purchases and goes daily to see.

I: the plot continue- there is consideralse talk in the village and among the summer cottages about Julian and hiBristol glars. Both families are outraged to think their child should be talked about and that Julian and $\mid 1$ insora should care for each other. In spite of parents and family complications love finds a way and Winsora and Julian go for their first wall together accepted lovers.

One of the factors that adked greatly: to the attractioness of the stage and the atmosphere of the play were the rare antiques foaned by Spokane residents. One of particular interest was a Crandfather's cluck.

Nll characters deserve much praise for their alble interpretation of their parts and too much can not be said of the patience and able direction of Miss Lucile Elliott, dramatic coach.

THE ART DEPARTMENT

This semester the members of the $\lambda \mathrm{rt}$ department and the members of the $\backslash$ rt club have beent very busy doing their bit around the school. 'lheir work adds greatly to the beauty of North Central. Students who are most adsanced have designed and painted the scenery for the operetta. This semester the Art club, which consists mainly of active members of the Art department, has catalogued the pictures of the school and made the plates that hang below them and each week they changed the picture that is placed over the stairs outsicle Miss Gibson's office and arrange the notes concerning the artist. They also have charge of the show ease near the cafeteria. I'her have added Greatly to the efticioncy of the Art department by purchasing a daylight reflector for class work.

Many of the attractive posters which have been shown around North Central were designed by the students of the A ot department with linolemm block stencils. 'The kenign used at Thanksgiving time, drawn and cut lọ Armold Markham, was a pemant in the colors red and black with the woml Indians written across.

The new Tndian head, symbolic of the natme of North Central, Indians: and which is used by the rooters and the yell leader, was drawn loy Ira Decker also a member of the Irt department.

Organizations

GIRLS' LEAGUE

The Girls' League of North Central was organized in March, 1918, when it was decided that an organization of this type was necessary: At this time there were about 900 girls enrolled in the school with no organization to reach them all.
The purpose of the League is to develop in each and every girl through cooperative

activities, a sense of loyalty to the highest interests of the school, the community and the nation.
Miss Cills $\mathfrak{n}$, who has been the director since it was organized, has been the mainstay. She, together with the cooperation of the girls has made it the well-known organization it is toclay.
There are four departments to the League, the entertaimment department, the vocational department, the personal efficiency department, and the social service department. At the begimning of every semester each girl signs up for the department she desires to work in.

The social service department is limited to juniors and seniors. The principal work of this department is philanthropic work and it also helps the social service bureau. Miss Helen McDouall of the language department is faculty director of the department and Mary Sartor is the student director. Fivery Christmas this department takes charge of securing Christmas presents for all the orphans at the Spokane Chiklren's home in order that they may have as happy a Christmas as others enjoy.

The personal efficiency department covers all athletics and health work. The hiking club comes under this department. The club takes several hikes a semester in which the girls have an opportunity to work for an emblem as well as going out for the sport of hiking. Those who head this department are Miss Elsa I'inkham and Irene Smith.

The vocational department has charge of all the vocational work that is carried on in the League. This department took charge of the distribution of Christmas seals this year and North Central subscribed her quota. Niss Mabel Clayton of the history department and Lucia Austin are the leaders of this semester.

All girls who have any dramatic ability are encouraged to join this department as this departinent has charge of the entertaining of the League. They give a party every year for the girls of the school which is always a success ancl is appreciated by all. The heads of this department are Miss Bertha Boehme of the language department and Margaret Coughlin.

In the last year a creed has been adtopted by the girls and a contest has also been held to secure a Girls' League song. The first prize went to Ruth Bloomquist for the original music and to Gertrude Ham for the words. The second by 1.tulu Fihrie, won $$ 5$ for the words.
The dress regulations committee is composed of 12 girls who are elected in their respective departments, three in each department, at the beginning of each semester. Ever since the regulations were adopted the League has given a style show once a year to encourage proper dress for high school girls.
The emblem chosen by the League in the spring of 1918 carries the motto of the Leeague as represented by the three words at the head, "Honor, Service, Loyalty." It is the honest effort and pride of every girl to uphold this moto to the best of her ability.

BOYS' FEDERATION

The Boys Federation was founded originally to aid war campaigns. At the close of the war the educational and social values of the oragnization were so appreciated that it was thought fit to request its reorganization on a permanent peace plan. The object was to promote activitives by which boys might develop personal efficiency, competent leadership, and social responsibility:
The new constitution provided for an Fixecutive comecil, including of ficers elected by the boys, class representatives, and one representative from each bors' club. Three departments composed the working end. The were the personal service department the community service department, and the school service department. Fach department has from 10 to 15 committees working under it.

Social education and citizenship training in North Central are built directly upon the principle that to learn is to do. Good psychology demands that students not only receive impressions of good government from their history and civic classes, but give expression of their knowledge through cooperative self government.

Council meetings are conducted with an adherence to parliamentary law which might flatter some adult assemblies. Elections. are held according to civic procedure. Most significant of all, stuclents learn through direct experience the lessons of social responsibility. Py a recent check it was learned that 91 out of 100 boys who graduated last June had given time and service to the work of the sehool outside the class room. The boys' work at North Central aims to supplement the class room in sentling into the social world of affairs socially trained men.

A great deal of attention is given to the democracy and efficiency of the organization. In many ways the organization has been planned after the civic form of gow ermment. Two years ago a new system of election was introrluced. By this system to receive a nomination for an executive office, a petition must be filled with at least 50 signatures. This allows any student a fair chance to win an office. The election held is almost identical to the one held in the city. All students must previously register in order to vote. l'rimaries are first held and all nominees nave two are eliminated from the finals. Nominees for the class officers are elected after the same manner except that only 15 signatures are required on the petitions.

The offices of the oragnization are president, yice president, clerk, treasurer, and financial secretary: During the present administration Rolert Pritchard is presiden; Manley Douglas, vice president; 1)elbert (iilderslecve clerk; Hawley Cole, treesurer; and Neil Lamson, financial secretar?.

The fifth annual Pep Carnival was held under the auspices of the Associated Student councils on November 21, between the hours of six-thirty and ten o'clock p. m .

Joe Greenough, manager of the 1923 Carnival, again served in that capacity and was assisted by Pauline Russell, assistant manager; Jack Quinn, head of construction; I Donald Disotell, head of publicity: Hawley Cole, head banker; Dorcas I eslie, decoration head; and Elinor Hove, shows head.

Total gross receipts of the 1924 Pep Carnival amounted to $$ 1275$, while expenses approximated $$ 650$, leaving about $$ 625$ for distribution among the 21 school organizations taking part in the Carnival. The attendance at this year's Carnival was over 3000.

The management continued the policy inaugurated last year of making as much of the equipment as possible permanent. I'wenty-five steel ticket containers were purchased, portable partitions for use in the gymnasium were constructed, additional bunting for decoration purposes was used, and other kindred additions to permanent equipment were made. The success of this and past Carnivals has assured the continuation of them, and this policy will undoubtedly materially decrease the cost of future Pep Carnivals.

Following the precedent set last year. Mildred Louiselle was elected queen of the fifth amnual Pep Carnival, and her coronation was a feature of the evening.

One of the large undertakings of the La Tertulia each year is to give a Spanish play in convocation. This requires much effort and time on the part of the members in order to make it a success.
In the spring the club prints the La Tertulia paper. This is put out to further interest in Spanish.

Snother important event in the yearly program of the club is the Spanish essay contest. All students who have taken or are taking Spanish are eligible. After the papers have lieen judged, the student who has the best essay is awarded a loving cup. This contest makes the Spanish department more popular and arouses a deeper and more interesting study of the lansuage.

He: I love you. I love you. It's all that I can say.

She: (still ignoringly) Oh, it ain't goma rain no mo', no mo'.
He: My wonderful one, how my arms ache to hold you-
She: (same) Way down upon the Swance river-

He: Sweet little you, I'm just wild about you.

She: (same) Carry me back to old Virginny:
He: Hard hearted Hannah! Remember the times we had, dear, remember our love so true.

She: Don't cry; Firenchie, don't cry:
He: Who's heart are you breaking, now?

She: It had to be you.
He: The girl I love belongs to somebody else. What'll I do?

She: Start down the trail to home, sweet home.

REVIEW OF THE SEASON

UNIDER the coaching of Clarence A. Zimmerman, new North Central grid mentor, the North Side Indians went through the most successful season in North Central history. Not only did the team go through the season undefeated but it also made history for the school when it completed the season without being scored upon. 'The Indians rolled up a total of $\mathrm{S}_{5}$ points to their opponents' zero. The team played five games all of which were against crack teams.

At the beginning of the season little was known of how the team would turn out. The material was admittedly good but the same material had suffered a rather rough vovage through the previous season and no one was willing to predict what kind of a team would develop. To add to the worries of their Red and Black backers a new coach was taking the helm and his task was far from casy for he had to pick an almost new backfield and recast the line. There were no experienced haffbacks and the new coach was forced to develop a pair to fill the shoes of the former stars Mecrath and Jones. The spirit of the squad was good however, and by hard work and long practice the Indians had a formidable machine to meet what proved to be their toughest opponents in the first game of the season when they journeyed to Portland to take on Washington high, champions of that city. The team showed wonderful defensive strength and flashes of a powerful offense which, due to lack of practical experience in games was as yet inconsistent. However, the potential strength was there. The team fought hard and by showing superior defensive work coupled with brilliant flashes of power was able to pull the game out of the fire by a 3-0 score. After the Portland game a three weeks' layoff took the edge of the squad and only a 3 to 0 victory was chalked up against the fighting Conzaga Bullpups. The comments on the result of this game proved a thorn in the flesh of the team and when the Indians met the crack Wa-Hi gridders they were fighting mad and registered a 12-0 win. The week following saw a $7-0$ victory over Yakima, which showed that the offense was still inconsistent in the pinches. However, they succeeded in rolling up a total yardage of over 500 to 44 for the visitors. Ifter this gane came the polishing of process for the ammal Lewis and Clark game. The offense was greatly developed and when the team took the field for the tussle it presented one of the most powerful teams both on the offense and defense that ever had donned the moleskins for North Central. Dopet to be a very close game it developed into a contest which showed North Central superior in every department to their ancient rivals who up to this time had won cvery game. The punch through the line was powerful, while the ability to run ends and through hroken fields was remarkable for a set of backs who at the leginning of the season were doped to be very mediocre. The game turned out to be a 31-0 victory for North Central, which is the worst drubbing Lewis and Clari has received since 1912, when another Red and Black team beat them 62-6.

The weather for the game was ideal, and 12,000 enthusiastic fans watched the teams battle. Besides being a football victory, it was also a victory for the North Central student body, who won various cups and pennants for their yelling ability. All of which made the day a perfect end for a perfect season.

'IHE PORTLAND GAME

Unlike most vears the North Central Indians started the season with an intersectional grid battle when they met W'ashington high school of l'ortland, Ore., on ()ctober 4.

The Whashingtonians had four times won the interscholastic championship of F'ortland and were strongly favored to win from the fighting red skins of Spokane who were going into their first battle of the season. '1he teams met on the rain soaked Multnomah stadium field and before 4000 eager football fans waged one of the prettiest grid battles ever seen in the Rose City. For three quarters the teams battled back and forth with neither eleven able to push over a score. It was not until the fourth quarter that the Indians were able to advance the ball within striking distance of the Maroon and Gold goal. Ifter a powerful line attack the ball was placed on the Washington 15-yard line and leeng held for two downs Clare Pritchard. kicking ace of the Indians, dropped back and booted a beautiful place kick high through the bars for a 3-0 victory for the Red and Black Warriors.

Clean sportsmanship characterized both teams. 'The Indians were well received and entertained rovally during their brief stay. Dll courtesy was shown the victors and it was audaciously conceded that the hest team had won.

'IHE GONZAGA DUAI.

Ifter a three weeks' layoff following the Portland game the Indians took the field to do battle with the Gonzaga Bullpups. '1'he game proved to be one of the hardest of the season as the young Bulldogs put up a strong defence which after the first quarter the WVarriors were unable to puncture consistantly.

Ster an exchange of punts following the first lick-off the Red and Black squad made a march of 50 yards to the enemies one-yard line where a fumble lost the ball and a cliance to score. Had this touchdown been marle the aspect of the entire game would probably have been changed as the lost chance seemed to take the pep out of the North Central team. The team continued to play a brilliant game on defense, however, and only once was the goal in danger. At this point, however, the Blue and White failed to make yardage and attempted a place kick which was smothered under a cloud of Red and Black jerseys. Play was about even until the last quarter when the Indians again made a determined march to the Bullpup 15-yard line where Clare Pritchard again was called upon to boot the pigskin between the hars. As usual Clare delivered and another 3-0 victory was won for North Central.

WA-HI BATTIE

The next game, which fell on November 1, saw the North Siclers in action against the WTalla Walla gridders at Walla W'alla. Owing to the score of the Gonzaga game the Blue and White was favored to win over the Red and Black battlers but the Indians were keyed up to such a fighting pitch that it was impossible for the Wa-Hi team to do much effective playing. They were on the defensive most if the tinte and it was only the brilliant punting of Holngren, star end, that kept the score down to a $12-0$ win for North Central. The first touchdown came as the result of a fumbled pass by a Wa-Hi back behind his own goal line which was recovered by Hogle. The next touchdown came after a smashing line attack lad carried the ball from the middle of the field to the one-yard line from where Gildersleeve pushed it over for the count. Another spectacular play of the game came when Rohwer broke through the line and dashed 75 yards for a touchdown only to be called back because the officials ruled that the quarter was over before the ball was in motion. 'Ilhe entire team played high class football showing a strong defense and a powerful driving offense.

INTIMNS MEET YAKIMA

In their second appearance on the home field the Indians humbled the Yakima team to the tune of $7-0$. The apple belt squad presented a crack eleven and were strongly in hopes of trouncing the Indians so they could again lay claim to the state title which they did last year. Such hopes however, soon went glimmering when the powerful North Central aggregation began to roll up yardage on the Orange and Black line. The score in no way indicates the gist of the battle for when the smoke of the fray cleared the Warriors had a total yardage of 298 to 44 for the opponents. The score of the game came after a sustained line attack by the Indians which finally sent Gildersleeve over for the touchdown and Rohwer added another point when he kicked goal. Yakima threatened to score only twice when in the first quarter two place kicks were tried both of which failed by a wide margin. From then on the Yakima team was forced to rely on a punting game which succeeded in lieeping their goal line out of danger most of the time.

The husky North Central linesmen showed to advantage in the game many times going through and snaring opposing backs for a loss. A wet slippery field prevented an open style of play but the Inclian backfield was always good for a few yards through the line.

TUE I,FWWIS AND CLARK GAME

In the most glorious game North Central has had for many years the powerful Indian tean tore a $31-0$ victory from the skin of the I,ewis and Clark Tiger. The North Side aggregation completely outclassed and outplayed their local opponents who aceording to the dopesters should have won by a $7-0$ score on a dry field. The best part of it was that the field was fast and dry yet the Indians flashed a quartet of the fastest backs and a line of the most powerful high schonl gridders ever seen on a local field. The North Central team was a collection of stars playing perfect teamwork with but two purposes in mind; namely to win for their school and their coach.

Soon after the first whistle Manley 1)ouglas broke away for the first sensational play when he flew around end for a 30 yard run. This paved the way for the first touchdown which Delbert Gildersleeve bucked across. Soon after the next kickoff Douglas tore around end for 35 yards more which again enabled the powerful Cildersleeve to buck the balt over. Lewis and Clark then took a brace and held until the half ended with the score standing 12-0 against them. The ligers came back strong but their rush was soon stopped and the North Central offensive again held sway. On an end run with Rohwer and Douglas carrying the ball the pigskin was advanced to the middle of the field where Stevens, fleet Red and Black quarter, broke through the line and after dodging two opponents and evading Luck, stellar Lewis and Clark safety man, ran 55 yards for the third touchdown. Another 40 yard march put the ball on the three-yard line where $R$. Pritchard, hard hitting fultback who had replaced Gildersleeve, bucked it across and C. Pritchard who went in for Douglas, scored the extra point with a splendid kick. In the fourth quarter another sensational play brought the crowd of 12,000 wild rooters to their feet when Kohwer slashed off tackle, whirled by the secondary defense, side stepped the last Orange and Black outpost and dashed 80 yards for the last touchdown of the game.
The victory was flawless in every respect. 'The team worked like a smooth running machine. The linesman opened wide holes and ran perfect interference, the passes from center were all faultless, the generalship of the quarterback was superb and the advancement of the ball by the powerful backs was spectacular. All this being evidence of the splendid coaching that the Indians received from their mentor Clarence A. Zimmerman.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALI.

This year saw one of the best freshman teams ever developed under Red and Black colors. The young pigskin pushers going through the season undefeated and no opponents crossed their goal line. Much promising material was uncovered and prospects look bright for future years when the yearlings are working on the first team.
Nuch credit for the victorious frosh is due to Lloyd Williams who worked long and faithfully to teach the young Warriors their tactics. Many times the coach scrimmaged with the freshman and taught them how to go through their paces. After the frosh season was over some of the star performers stayed out and were able to make places on the second team.

Although the scores of all their games were small the games were all battles as the young Indians took on all available opponents. Among the teams played were the Gonzaga J. Y. A., Mckinley junior high and the Chattaroy high school team.

THE TRIBE

Captain Edgie Hogle played his last and best year as captain and leader of the championship squad. Fedgie was a demon on defense and capable of snaring long forward passes and was placed on the all-city team for the third consecutive year.

Captain-elect Gildersleeve, playing his third year at fullback won the respect of all the critics and showed rare line plunging ability coupled with great speed. "Oscar" "as selected by his teammates to lead the 1925 eleven.

Wame Summerville, at right end, proved to be a tower of strength and a capable rumning mate for Captain Hogle, He won his letter for the first time and will probably be back next year.

Lloyd Pirkett, playing his first year at end, made a good showing and was always able to step in one of the regular's places without weakening the team.

Bostwick, the giant tackle, proved to be one of the most powerful lineman in the city always playing a strong offensive game besides being a stone wall on defense. Landed on the all-city team for the second time.

Ed Lowery, playing his last year on the Red and Black team proved to be a power in the line both on defensive and of fensive. His ability to smear trick plays was uncanny. Another all-city selection.
Webster McCarty, a capable understudy for the regular tackles, should be a powerful man in the line next year.
I.oren Haynes, a light fast lineman whose charging ability was second to none and having as his specialty the knack of ruming good interference.
Don Axtell, one of the most consistant lineman ever developed at North Central, whose graduation will leave a big hole to be filled next season, placed at right guard on the all-city eleven.

Bill Recker, of the scrubs, fought his way into enough first team ganes to win the coveted letter. Although handicapped by lack of weight he had lots of fight.
Jack Graham, holding down the pisut position for the second year, proved a valuable man to the team. His passing and all around play was of a high caliber.
Teed Rohwer, shifted from quarterbach to halfback, developed into a consistant ground gainer and placed on the mythical all-city eleven at left half.

Manley Douglas, one of the speediest halflacks to ever don the moleskins for a Red and Black eleven, used his speed to a good advantage in the Lewis and Clark game.
C. Pritchard, a hard hitting halfback whose educated toe won two lattles for the team this season.
R. Pritchard, handicapped by an injury early in the season was unable to do battle until the Yakima game. He hit the line hard and was userl at fullback and half.

Matthew Stevens, one of the most consistant quarterbacks that ever barked the signals. I'sed good generalship at all limes and ran his team like a veteran. Ilis ability to pivot and stiffarm opposing ends made many gains for the Red and Black.

Hugh Cheesman, as manager of the team, was as capable a man as ever handled the business end of the game. His work was partly responsible for the wonderful support of the student body.

Coach C. A. Zimmerman, in his first season as coach of the North Central football squad, established history for the school by developing a team that has never had its goal line crossed. He won the whole-hearted respect of all the boys and there wasn't a member of the squad who wouldn't give all he had for his coach.

GIRLS' TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Giris 'Thinnis Squat

The girls' tennis team of North Central again proved its ability when it took the annual tennis tournament from 1 .ewis and Clark for the second consecutive year, early this fall. The series of this fall was played after the manner of a round robin tournament. Each girl had to be defeated three times before she was eliminated from the contest. Three North Central girls were successful in reaching the individual finals, Rhoda llahoney, Arable Skone and June Mcl onald, while only one lewis and Clark girl remained. In the final tournament for the city championship. Clemna Jacobs, Lewis and Clark representative, was eliminated in the semifinals, also Mable Skone one of North Central's racketeers; leaving two mem-for the championship title. In the final clash June Mchonald emerged victorious thus winning the title of girls' Spokane City champion.

The North Central girls took the lead at the beginning of the tournament and held it all through the season. As each match won counted one point for the school represented North Central was successful in securing 21 points to their opponents 15 or 21 of the 36 matches played.

The prospect for the coming season is considered very good by the coach, Miss Flia X. Pinkham, with more than half the team back along with Captain-elect June McDonald. A good deal of credit should be given the coach for the successful season according to the girls who trained under her supervision.

THE NOVICE RACE

In a closely contested race John White nosed out Hill Johnson for first place in the annual cross country race. The winner ran a pretty race setting the pace most of the way. A large field of starters faced the tape for the annual non-letterman classic.

This was the first race of the season and gave Coach Taylor a chance to look over the largest part of his squad in action. As mly students who have never won letters in cross country are allowed to participate there is always keen competition. The winner finished strong and made fast time for the course. The boy who wins the novice is presented with a beautiful gold medal. Nuth material was uncovered in the race, much of which was of the freshman class who in future years should go a long way in putting the long distance squad in the win column. The first five who finished were John White, Hill Johnson, Kenneth Ryan, Orville Dunham, and Ben Hayes.

THE ANNUAL CROSS COUNTRI

The Indian Marathon team went down to defeat at the hands of the Tiger squad in its annual race when three of the rival long distance men finished ahead of the first North Central man. Captain Hansen was the first runner to cross the tape for the Red and Black but finished fourth in the race. Spectators and runners alike shivered in the cold wind which swept across the course making it impossible to establish any records for the distance. The rival team was made up of veteran rumers who because of their experience were able to conquer the green team most of which were rumning their first race. However, after the first three men crossed the tape competition was close and exciting. Coach I. Wesley Taylor expressed himself as heing more than satisfied by the showing made by the team as much new and valuable material was uncovered. The first ten who crossed the line were; Don Burrus, I. C., Wagner, L. C.. Myrene, L. C., Hansen, N. C., White, N. C., McDonnell, I.. C., McDonnell, L. C., Dunham, N. C., Birkett, N. C., Ryan, N. C.

The junior class basketball team was successful in capturing the interclas: championship for 1924 over its fellow competitors, the senior, sophomore, and freshman teams. The nine games of the tournament were played lectween November 1.3 and 24 , and of that group the jumiors took the lead with four games against three for the semiors and two for the frosh. 'Ihe sophomores were unable to win a single game.

SECOND TEAN IOOOTBALI

The fighting second string confined most of its efforts this season to whipping the first team into condition and only one mutside game was played by the scrub team. The game was played against the Eindicott team at Endicott, Wash. The teams were evenly matched although the sagebrushers out weighed the second -tringers. After battling for three quarters on ahmost even terms the Endicott eleven advanced far enough to boot a fiekd groal between the hars and win a 3 -0 victory. Captain Becker, of the scrubs, was the outstanding linesman in the game. His lack of weight was mate uI, for by his fighting spirit and his ability to get through the opposing line and bring down speedy baclis before they got started.

The second team certainly deserves all of the credit that is given them this season for aside from this game they contented themselves with turning out faithfully every night to receive the bumps and knocks they have to take to get the first team into tip-top shape. The lineup was as follows: ends, Birkett and Macri; tackles, Mimnick and Soike; guards, Becker (C.) and Armstrong ; center, Mac1) onald; halfbacks, Hughes, Dollan and Haynes; fullbacks, (iilbertson and Raniger; quarterbacks, Haynes and Fait.

'The Indians took the warpath for the first time when they scalped the Millwood quintet to the tune 48-4. Speed and ability to hit the basket coupled with a tight defense featured the game. The next encounter saw the Indians romp home with the long end of a 23-11 score against the Conzaga Bullpups. The tribe was going like a house on fire and in the succeedting two weeks met and defeated by decisive scores the Hillyard, Cocur d' Alene, and Colville quintets. At this time the Indians were ambushed by Davenport who, on their own floor, took the team by storm and gained the long end of the score. A return game was immediately scheduled as the squad was anxious to tangle with them again.

The Christmas holidays brought no rest for the basketeers as they were slated for a barnstorming trip through Montana where they met and conduered some of the best teams of the state including Butte high, champions of the state and Montana representatives at the 1924 National meet. 'The first clash of the trip came at Thompson Falls where the Red and Plack easily outpointed the power city squad to the tume of 48-4. Nany critics there ventured the opinion that the victors showed the greatest teamwork ever displayed on their floor. The next victory came at Missoula where the Washingtonians again came out on top with a $37-2$ score. 'This game was featured by the close guarding of Craham and Rohwer who held the opposing forwards to a lone field goal while Sohns, Nitchell and Birkett were hitting the ring for the counters. At Butte the state champions were snowed meler by a 31-7 score in a game featured by wonderfal teamwork on the part of the Red and Black. 'l'he next game was played against one of North Central's former coaches When LE. D. Godfrey trotted his squad onto the maple lloor to oppose the North Siders at Creat Falls. Although the Cireat F'alls boys showed much fight they were outclassed by the Red and Black team and went to defeat by a $48-8$ score. The last game of the invasion saw the Indians in action against the Whitefish agyregation who. in a fast rough game met the fate of the other Montana teams when they

'The team was not ower-confident and went into the fray determinerl to avenge the defeats of the previous season. A capacity crowel turned out and witnessed one of the most furious and hard fought battles that has ever taken place in the North Sile gym. The lead atthough small was in the hands of the Indians most of the time although the count was knotted four times during the contest, and when the ginn ended the fourth quarter the score stood 13-13. In the five minute session that followed the count was again tied at 16 all until Mel Sohns ussed a comnter from the middle of the floor for the first Red and Black victory wer her South Sirle rivals in the anmual basketball series.

Once upon a midnight dreary，
As he sat and called her deary
On a sofa made for one，but holding more
Suddenly there came a tapping
As of someone gently rapping
Rapping at the parlor door．
＂＇ 1 ＇is my father，dear，＂she murmured
＂Only he and no one more．＂
What cared he for her relations
He was full of exclamations
Such as＂I）carie does oo love oos dearie more？＂
But her father tired of waiting
Waiting growing aggravating，
Opened wide the parlor door．
Oh how well that he remembered
That cold night in bleak December
As he flew out twenty paces from the door．
And for life will he be branded
Where her father＇s foot had landed
Quoth the raven＂Never More．＂
Cop：＂What do you mean by driving 40 miles an hour？

Marjorie：Why officer I have only been driving 15 minutes．
